

ORQ8 Design Partner Program

The AI Organization Operating System for one-person companies, built with solo founders. Tell ORQ8 what you want: it hires the team, does the work, and reports back. Free access through beta for a deliberately small cohort of 3 5 design partners.

The Golden Workflow what the demo shows

You speak. It understands. Give ORQ8 a vague idea, a link, or a question "I think there is a business here, investigate it." The Executive Agent classifies intent, gathers context from Company Memory, and convenes the right team.

It deliberates like a real organization. A temporary strategy council (market researcher, finance analyst, legal researcher, growth strategist) researches independently and challenges one another; the Executive Agent returns a recommendation with evidence, alternatives, confidence, and the approval required.

You approve. It hires, executes, reports. You decide in the Decision Center approve, reject, or modify.

Temporary agents are hired with business cases, execute with approvals and blockers flagged, write lessons to Company Memory, and send a weekly report. Everything is audited; nothing consequential happens without you.

Example. "I think we should build an AI customer support product for African businesses. Find out whether this is worth pursuing." -> council -> recommendation -> your approval -> validation project -> hired AI team executes -> weekly report.

What you get

Free Pro-equivalent access through beta (~6 months), no card required.

A direct line to the founder your feedback ships, and your roadmap is our roadmap.

Early access before anyone else, plus naming rights in the changelog.

What we ask in return

Use ORQ8 on ONE real business decision in your first two weeks not a demo, a real one.

One 30-minute onboarding call, then one feedback call per month.

Honest criticism: what is broken, confusing, or missing.

Permission to use your story as a case study anonymized if you prefer.

How to join the beta

Apply: email [you@orq8.ai] with three lines who you are, what you build, and the one decision you would feed ORQ8.

20-minute call: we walk the Golden Workflow on YOUR real idea never a canned demo.

Onboard: your organization, Company Constitution, and first council are set up with you.

Loop: monthly feedback calls; what you report gets fixed. Slots are deliberately limited to 3 5.

You stay the CEO. The system runs the organization.